Money and Food To Be Discussed By 2 Committees

Two important topics—money and food—will be discussed at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday when the finance and barbeque committees of the Corsicana Centennial Celebration hold a joint session at the Chamber of Commerce.

The finance committee is headed by N. Suttle Roberts, president of the State National Bank, and the barbeque committee by W. H. Smith.

It is hoped that final plans for the barbeque, set for July 3, the opening day of the fete, can be wrapped up.

The finance committee has interlocking business with the barbeque committee relative to expenses.

At noon Monday only $1,300 of the $5,000 check for financing the celebration had been received, according to Herman Brown, manager.

Texas Demos' Tension High

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
BROWNWOOD, May 24.—(P)—

Tension between leaders of three factions of Texas Democrats seeking control of the party mounted today on the eve of the state convention.

It appeared there were so many cross-currents that all that could be agreed upon were the rules of war for what was shaping up as one of the hottest in the party history.

Old timers said they had never seen the pre-convention picture more confused, caused by sharp cleavages between the three major groups and factions within factions.

Caucus Called Off.

A scheduled caucus of the organization—or Jester—faction will not be held tonight, indicating considerable internal dissension.

Leaders of the State's Rights group had not yet decided whether to hold their pre-convention strategy meeting. It may come immediately after this afternoon's session of the executive committee.

The pro-Truman faction will meet at 8 p. m. One of the toughest issues before it was whether or not to support Fred Minor of Denton as temporary chairman—in accord with the Jester group's wishes—or whether it would back former Mayor George Sergeant of Dallas.

It was rumored that this group might even combine with the state's righters to block election of Tom Tyson of Corsicana as permanent chairman.

Wright Morrow of Houston still appeared to be the best bet for national committeeman.

Fred Robertson of Tyler was the candidate of one strong group in Jester's camp and could not be counted out. Robertson's friends were reportedly very unhappy because Jester had given the nod to Morrow.

Morrow's friends said he had enough votes to assure victory.

The State's Righters group appeared also to be in a favorable bargaining position. It was a relatively small minority, but it could hold the balance of power on several issues.

Stormy Control Of Texas GOP Held By Taft Backers

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., May 24.—(P)—

Supporters of Senator Robert Taft held complete though stormy control of the State Republican Executive Committee meeting here today.

Taft forces made a clean sweep of all resolutions offered and reversed several previous controversial decisions made by the committee.

An overflow crowd heard frequent verbal clashes between R. B. Creager, Brownsville, National Republican Committeeman and Taft movement leader, and George C. Hopkins, Dallas, committee chairman and state Dewey leader.

Several Actions Taken.

It was a losing battle for Hopkins and his one majority group. Committee action included:

(1) Reinstatement of Marra McLean, San Antonio, as state finance committee chairman.

(2) Recognition of Ralph W. Currie as chairman of the Dallas county Executive Committee.

(3) Appointment of Alvin Lane, Dallas, and Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls, as co-counsel to the committee.

(4) Ignored, in effect, a San Antonio district court ruling that the state chairman and not the headquarters committee holds authority to appoint county chairmen in counties where no party organization exists.

Three Removed.

McLean, Currie and Lane were removed from office last July 30 in a stormy committee meeting in Dallas at which Hopkins presided.

Carpenter Sends $100 Check For Centennial Fund

A former resident of Corsicana had without intention put the Centennial Celebration fund drive squarely into the hands of Corsicana.

He is John W. Carpenter of Dallas, president of the Texas Power & Light Co., who sent his personal check for $100 to the finance committee headed by N. Suttie Mitchell, president of the State National Bank and chairman of the committee.

At noon Friday $710 of the hoped-for $5,000 total had been paid into the Chamber of Commerce office.

Hitting Spree Is Feature Victory Over Lon Morris

Navarro Junior College's Bulldogs went on a hitting spree on Thursday afternoon at Territo Park to beat Lon Morris of Jacksonville 13-4 and close out their TJC athletic conference season with a win.

The Bulldogs took their lead at the end of the first frame, and were never behind. Their hitting, pitching and hitting looked better than it has looked at any time this season on the home ground.

Three players, J. H. Justice, Jack Hollister and Charley Smith, bore the brunt of Navarro's attack, accounting for 9 of Navarro's 12 hits between them.

Lloyd Longino turned in a good performance though. Lon Morris managed nine bingles off him. He struck out 14 batters and walked but three men for his win.

The Bulldogs paced C. L. Wheeler in the first three frames, and George Quick, who replaced him, didn't live up to his name. The locals collected three hits and five runs off him before he was warmed up to get a top-heavy margin and coast on in to the finish.

Now That Jesse James 'Found Alive,' Let's Solve Other Old 'Mysteries'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, May 20.—(P)—What kind of a square did the face on the bathroom floor have?

Who really put pussy in the well? Who moved down Cook Robinson and why? Where's Elmer?

These are celebrated mysteries still left unsolved by the reported discovery of Jesse James alive and well in Oklahoma at the age of 100—and drawing more interest than he ever got from a bank.

It is a dull year indeed when somebody doesn't revive the famous Missouri outlaw, and it is only recently that doubles for John Wilkes Booth, the man who shot Lincoln, quit reappearing. Booth would be 110 years old now and entitled to a lot of back payments on his old age pension.

Dismisses Uncertainties
The time is ripe for congress to set up a permanent commission to investigate all the popular puzzles that rise again and again to worry a peaceful people.

Let's get rid of these uncertainties. Where is Elmer indeed? Did Smith see the bathroom floor have piano legs? Why do we have to go on wondering what became of Sully? Who really did pay the rent for Mrs. Rip Van Winkle while her husband was grabbing his long shut-eye? Let's don't just jest about why the chicken crossed the road. Let's find out.

There are enough of these unsolved, vexing riddles to keep a congressional investigating committee busy forever. An ideal counsel for the committee would be Jim Moran, the first man in history to sit on an ostrich egg and treadwater. Where is Elmer? Sully? Warmth of his own personality. Moran boasts he also is the first man to sell an icebox to an Eskimo and find a needle in a haystack.

Let's put him in charge of the committee's "lost and found" department and send him off in Rudyard Kipling's phantom rickshaw to get the real lowdown on what happened to Charley Ross, the kidnapped Philadelphia boy. He could also take sidetraps, expenses paid, looking for Ambrose Bierce, Justice Joseph Force Crater, Adolph Hitler and the cigar store Indian.

That still leaves plenty of problems for the committee members themselves.

Why has the fiend who put the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder never been brought to justice? His capture might swing the Irish vote in an election year.

Who Broke Lock?
Can't congress find out after all these years who broke the lock on the hen house door? What about the lost Atlantis, the lost chord and the lost weekend? Can the FBI say for certain they weren't?

CHANGE IN PATTERN

The battle of propaganda between this country and the Soviet Union has taken a curious turn. It can hardly be accepted with anything but enthusiasm for the hope of harmony which it seems to offer, and yet the circumstances are strange.

The Russian move was not an overtone toward the United States in simple terms, but was a carefully designed piece of propaganda for international consumption.

Its timing was good in Europe, giving Russia a new initiative in the propaganda contest there, and was precisely fitted into the American scene. Did the timing

miss fire here, however, when at the last moment the scheduled railroad strike, which could have thrown

the country into utter confusion for a while, did not come off?

It is interesting to note that the cancellation of the rail strike made it possible for the administration, the press and the people to give full attention immediately to the Russian announcement of readiness to talk, with the result that within a matter of hours the American version of the exchange of views was given wide dissemination. Did Russia count on our preoccupation with the strike?

Turning aside from the curious elements of the situation, but not forgetting them, it is possible to find high encouragement for the future. If the two nations can agree that there are things to talk about, and begin talking, intelligent understanding may yet be reached.

FOLLOW TRAIL

What an eloquent thing is a path. The one cutting across a farmer's meadow to his back door tells of pleasant friendliness, of much visiting back and forth by the adults, their children, their dogs.

The worn zigzag ribbon

over the vacant lot leads to the school house, and home again. It has been used often by carefree boys and girls, and so long that it is as solid as cement.

In the woods there are always paths, their making mysterious. Forest folk usually are responsible for the narrow trails that so delight the human visitor on his May walks. He knows they will lead him past the tallest, most ethereal trilliums, and on to the best places for fording the creek.

Paths are man's most ancient work. He learned about them from the animals. Many travel arteries crisscrossing the country today were started by the bu-

falo, whose great weight forced him to high, hard ground. Indians' moccasined feet followed, trod those trails to firmness. White settlers drove horse and ox cart over the natural lane, built them ultimately into modern roads for auto and truck travel.

Whether in their simple state, or blossomed into macadam marvels, paths are symbols. They denote the urge in man and the animals for companionship, for adventure. Paths are made by seekers.

FARM PARITY

The question of government supports for farm prices now is ready for the floor of the Senate. The present price support program expires at the end of this year.

The basic idea of parity price support is to maintain what is regarded officially as a fair relationship between the prices received by the farmer for his crops and the prices he pays for goods

PEACEFUL STREETS.

Every town has many a street

Where at peace the neighbors dwell.

Protestant and Catholic meet

With the greeting: "Hope you're well!"

And on the street sorrow fall,

Jew and Gentile come to call.

Should a child of one be ill,

Other mothers offer aid.

Several forms of prayer be made.

All that one is asked to bear.

Those who live nearby will share

The peace that comes from prayer.

Strange that on a peaceful street

Many a difference is fought.

But when groups and nations meet

Hated rymes and love cannot.

Where are sympathetic hearts

Peace abides and strife departs.

bought. Most people will agree that the idea is good.

Everybody wants parity—

the clerk and the factory worker and the dock hand want a fair relationship between their wages and the prices they pay for goods.

Other industries would like the same kind of guarantees for their products.

The government has gotten deeply into the business of guaranteeing an almost unlimited market at assured minimum prices for farm products. The measure reported out to the Senate by its Agriculture Committee represents an effort to disentangle the government to a small degree without giving up the parity idea. It aims at a flexible parity formula which would allow for some following of the laws of economics, for lower prices on produce when it is abundant than on the same produce when scarce. The general level of price supports would be lowered a little, and the number of specific items supported would be cut.

The Senate is tackling a knotty problem, one which is politically explosive. It will need courage and vision. A little advice and support from the constituency might not be amiss.

UNWISE PROPOSAL

"Asinine" is President

Turman's description of the proposal by Congressman

Leo Allen of Illinois, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, to pay

$1,000 or $1,500 to volunteers. This plan would be a substitute for the draft. It was strong language on the part of the President, but justified.

Congressman Allen evidently has not looked into the military history of the United States, as the chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs should do.

The bonus system has been tried again and again, and bred nothing but waste and scandal. In the Revolution

Congress and the states bid against each other, raising their offers until each volunteer received $200 from Congress and more from the states, New Jersey paying as high as $1,000. Richer districts would entice volunteers from poorer, till some sections were almost stripped of manpower.

It was worse in the Civil War. Bounty-jumping became a profession. A man would enlist, claim his bonus, desert, and often re-enlist under another name. One man enlisted 32 times. Bounty-broking proved profitable to others, who lined up recruits for a commission, regardless of how fit for army service these recruits might be. In the four years from 1861 to 1865 it has been estimated that the bounty system, which Congressman Allen would revive, cost over $750,000,000. This was for the North alone. What it would cost for a united country, with a population four times as large, staggers the imagination.

FAITH IN THE U. N.

"The United Nations is

the only hope we have of holding the world together.

For the foreseeable future it is the only instrument for preventing another war in which there could be no victor, no vanquished, but only universal destruction for both sides—for all humanity." The words are those of Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, formerly Norway's minister of foreign affairs. Writing in the New York Times, Mr.

Lie says that discouragement and fear for the future

tends to make people blame the U. N., to call it powerless. He warns that this is

THE HIGH CHAIR

dangerous talk, and is not true.

Granting that the U. N.

has had some tough going during its three short years of life, he believes it "has proved itself a powerful influence for peace." He thinks the greatest threat to the United Nations is the East-West postwar adjustment exemplified in the Russian-United States controversy. "This conflict must not be permitted to become irreconcilable," he said.

Mr. Lie lists impressive accomplishments of the United Nations and its agencies "to give people everywhere a chance to live out their lives in freedom from fear and want." This immense vitality of the United Nations, he suggested, does not always get into the headlines.

The peoples of the world should demand that their governments use the way at hand for peaceful living in this world. This way, Mr.

Lie points out, is the United Nations.

CASE FOR INJUNCTION

The railroad brother-

hoods have succeeded in making a very strong case

for the Taft-Hartley law, from the provisions of which they are exempt. They refused to listen to the pleas of government to abandon their strike plan, they declined to call it off on the simple ground of government seizure of the roads, but when an injunction was obtained they yielded promptly and gracefully.

What better argument

could be offered for the effectiveness of the court in-sion every one feels for the physical blind, Rev. Mr. Bailey spoke of spiritual blindness, and stressed the richness of life that comes of an understanding of God. He appealed for the graduates to move into leadership in life after having their eyes opened through the educational system.

The minister spoke of the concern of Jesus for the blind and His stopping to help those who open their hearts and eyes to Him. The speaker stressed the fact that the two healed blind men followed Jesus after their sight was restored.

War Experiences Told.
Turning to another portion of his sermon, the pastor spoke of his own eyes being opened while serving as a captain of American troops in World War II—of Christian orphanage where Jewish children were hidden—children the Nazis would have killed—of how shortly after the Normandy invasion the difficulty American soldiers had in persuading a little French lad to sing his national anthem because he still feared the Boches who would not allow it during their occupation.

In closing his address, the Rev. Mr. Bailey urged his youthful hearers to understand themselves. Following the hymn, A Mighty Fortress Is Our God (Luther) and The Lord Bless and Keep You (Lutkin) by the mixed chorus, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Goff.

Announcements made by Principal Armistead included the Alumni Association meeting Monday night at the high school cafeteria. The program Monday night is in charge of George McPherson, president; Mrs. W. E. Newman, first vice president; Lewis David, second vice president; Hugh Fulton, secretary; Andrew McMillin, treasurer, and Mrs. L. A. Wortham, publicity chairman. The Fine Arts program will be given Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Junior High school auditorium with the department of accredited music and speech arts presenting graduates in piano, violin, and speech. Diplomas will be presented by President Stroube. Junior High school graduation exercises will be held Friday at 10 a. m. with the Senior High school graduation program slated Friday at 8 p. m.

Nine Tiger Track And Field Men Receive Letters

Lettermen are Jimmy Mash, Bill Davis, June Clark, Verdie Cook, Herman Barrs, Kelly Burkhardt, Charles Bittner, Benny Poarch, and Max Carter.
Verdie Cook was the only one of these to receive a sweater, since the rest had lettered in some other sport this year and had received sweaters for them. Letters or trophies were awarded to the other eight members named. June Clark's letter was his third straight one in track. Bill Davis, Charles Bittner, and Benny Poarch earned their second consecutive letters. It was the first letter in that sport for Jimmy Mash, who gave Corsicana its first win in the state meet held in Austin when he topped the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet, 6 inches.

COUNTY

Frost Saturday night and Harrison, veteran political leader, and Frost school superintendent, was named vice chairman. County Democratic Chairman Patterson of Frost was elected secretary of the delegation.

Various questions that are expected to arise in the convention were discussed. While only 13 of the 20 delegates were present Saturday night, unofficial polls of the delegates made, subject to a review and reconsideration when the entire delegation convenes in Brownwood.

If Tyson is named permanent chairman, Harrison will become leader and chairman of the Navarro county group. The Unit rule was voted by the recent county convention, sending the local group to the convention uninstructed. Tyson introduced the governor when the latter opened his gubernatorial campaign in Corsicana two years ago. He was chairman of the Navarro county Democratic convention held here.

Governor Jester addressed the State Bankers Association in San Antonio Monday and talks before the State County Democratic Chair-men's Association Monday night in Brownwood on the eve of the convention.

The governor, Mrs. Jester and son, Beauford, Jr., motored to Austin Sunday afternoon after spending the week-end at their home here and with the mother of the governor, Mrs. George T. Jester.

LABOR LAW

which is regarded as having a chance for congressional action this session.

Landis and Ives are sponsors of bills to abolish the union shop vote procedure. They, together with Herzog and Danham, told the committee the union shop has carried in an overwhelming number of elections.

Ives, also a committee member, said these elections have bogged down both the staff and the general staff.

Landis proposed that either the 5-man board be enlarged to seven, or that more authority be given the NLRB legal staff to ease the load of the board members.

Senator Earl (B-Minn.) chairman of the committee which opened three weeks of study of the Taft-Hartley law, told a reporter it is possible that Congress may junk the union shop bailing plan this session. But he said there is little chance for action on these matters the hearings will cover:

1. Whether to clamp down against industry-wide bargaining in view of the recent coal strike and the narrowly averted railroad tie-up.
2. Whether to change the Railway Labor Act to try to prevent another crisis in that industry.
3. What to do about union welfare funds, now restricted but still a problem enough in the coal industry to have touched off the latest walkout of miners.
4. How to speed up NLRB machinery for handling unfair labor practice cases and representation elections.
5. Whether to outlaw strikes aimed at enforcing employers to agree to contracts which either violate the law or evade it.

members in attendance. Visiting dignitaries were introduced among them: Percy Brown, who is chairman of the American Legion's National Defense Committee and a candidate for national commander. He spoke to the Legionnaires at the afternoon session, which was held in the air-conditioned offices of the Lone Star Gas Company.

Resolutions Adopted

Resolutions adopted did the following:

1. Endorsed Rev. Sam B. Hill of College Station as national chaplain.
2. Praised Lt. Gen. John K. Cannon of Barksdale Field, La., for his action in transporting Harry Campbell, an ill Bryan school teacher, to a Rochester, Minn., clinic last April, saving the man's life. Cannon sent a crew of officers and a medical officer with a plane named the "Cannon Ball" from Barksdale Field at the request of the Legion.
3. Favored voting at the state convention through the various district commanders to speed action.
4. Commended the Fort Worth Graves Registration Service for its "exceptional work."
5. Urged additional facilities for veterans suffering from alcoholism with proper mental rehabilitation.
6. Lauded Corsicana Mayor Braselton and the citizens for their generous hospitality in serving as the convention host.
7. Mayor Braselton gave a brief address of welcome at the Legion session Sunday morning. Mr. Brown, who was to speak at that time, was unable to be present.
8. At the afternoon session, Hugh Steward of Fairfield, read the invocation after a call to order by Sleep Well?

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

Of all the restorative powers that Nature holds in store, none is more beneficial than sound, refreshing sleep.

If you sleep well, you can meet the cares of the day with comparative ease. Lack of sleep ravel the nerves, creates a mounting tension, depletes the system.

No amount of sedatives, no careful use of sleep inducing drugs, suffices the calm restful sleep which Nature intended human beings to enjoy.

Consult your doctor if you cannot sleep well. He will advise you what to do, his prescription can be trusted.

pleted a draft of the convention agenda for submission to the executive committee this afternoon. It did not announce what it would recommend.

The rules for tomorrow's fight were tentatively agreed upon last night.

They were thrashed out at an hour-long secret session last night of leaders of the three groups seeking to dominate tomorrow's state convention. These three groups are:

1. The party organization headed by Gov. Beauford H. Jester and executive committee chairman Robert W. Calvert. They want the Texas delegation unstructured as to candidates, instructed against President Truman's civil rights program.
2. The pro-Truman Democrats, led by Woodville Rogers of San Antonio. They want the delegation instructed for Truman.
3. The state's rights Democrats, headed by Merritt H. Gibson of Longview. They favor the Southern revolt and want Texas Democrats to indicate in a referendum at the July primary whether their electors shall be bound to vote for the National party's nominees.

Loud Talk Heard

Loud talk, angry tones and some laughter were audible through the locked door to the room where the conference was held. The conferees agreed only that they would make the fight as short as possible limiting convention roll calls to a maximum of six. Roll calls took conference from an hour to an hour and a half.

The nine leaders—three representatives from each group—emphasize they could not bind their factions. The final decision on many points will not be worked out until tonight's caucuses.

Attending the conference for the party organization were Calvert, committee secretary Vann McKeen, and Corp. Chas. M. Nille Penrose of Fort Worth. For the Truman-wing: Rogers, Gordon Griffin of Brownwood, George Sergeant of Dallas. For the state's rights: Roy Sanderford of Belton, Palmer Bradley of Houston, Arch Rowan of Fort Worth.

"Not Texas Regular"

Gibson said he yielded to Bradley because he was not a Texas Regular. He was off at the war during that time.

There has been considerable talk that the Truman faction would be willing to accept Fred Minor of Denton as temporary chairman because of his clean record of party loyalty, but Rogers said last night he could not answer a question as to whether this was true.

"I want to wait and see what the executive committee will recommend as to the convention's order of business," he said.

"Our only agreement was to make it a convention and not an endurance contest."

Chairman Test Seen

The test could come on the election of a permanent chairman, on the question of accepting district caucus recommendations, or on vote nominating the National committeeman or woman for Texas.

These were the six points the conference agreed might demand a roll call vote:

1. If the executive committee report provides that the temporary chairman may appoint three members at large on each convention committee, a motion to strike that portion of the report would call for a roll call vote.
2. If two or more individuals are nominated from the floor for National committee man or woman.
3. If any group wants a record vote on permanent chairman.
4. On the question of whether delegates shall be instructed as to candidates, or instructed for Truman's re-nomination.

Southern Revolt Eyed

A new effort to persuade the Texas Democratic organization to formally join the Southern revolt may come before the state executive committee today.

Chairman Calvert said if he makes a recommendation on the matter, it would be to reject it. "I was referring to a request by Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas that Texas Democrats join the revolt," he said.

Primary purpose of today's committee meeting was to set up machinery for the presidential temporary convention officers.

Other business facing the committee was adoption of a resolution outlining general procedure and acting out what delegations will participate on the temporary roll and a decision on what committees will be created and what offices the convention will have.

The committee will provide machinery for the convention to use in recommending a National committeeman and woman, but it made no recommendations as to the persons to be named.

Tom Tyson Offered

Included in the list of that of permanent chairman, but the committee makes no recommendation to any individual. The Navarro county delegation is urging Tom Tyson, designer by Calvert as a close friend of Gov. Jester and a "loyal Democrat."

This will be a full day and night for the delegates who have jam-packed practically all available rooming space in this vicinity.

The executive committee meeting will be followed by caucuses of the disputing factions.

Jester was expected to arrive by plane from San Antonio late today to appear at a statewide meeting of the Association of County Democratic Chairmen. Many county delegations will hold caucuses which are expected to run into the early hours of Tuesday.

AUTO LABOR

Sigler's announcement came on the heels of an announcement that the biggest General Motors Corp. local in the UAW-CIO had turned thumbs down on a strike against that firm.

The big Buick local 598 of Flint, Mich., heart of GM's huge factory system, voted against a strike, rejecting a plea from Elmer Moxey, the international UAW's secretary-treasurer and acting president.

Local 598 is the UAW's largest in GM, claiming 15,000 members. It has been influential in union policies.

The UAW said Saturday, however, that 80 percent of the vote in locals so far had favored a walkout. At that time about 50 locals had voted, a union spokesman said.

study by some of the backers of Senator Robert A. Taft in his bid for the Republican Presidential nomination.

In this connection, the Taft camp was credited with spurring the latest move to get Gen. Douglas MacArthur home to testify before the Senate Appropriations committee on Far Eastern conditions before the June 21 Republican convention, MacArthur Vote Sought.

The Taft backers apparently think that MacArthur—with eight delegates backing him in Wisconsin, two in Illinois, and scattered strength elsewhere—might be induced to support Taft, possibly if the general concludes he can't win the nomination himself.

The possibility of Eisenhower's being picked by the Democrats already is being used against Taft's backers say. Hence they would like to have MacArthur in their corner as a security hedge in the delegate's minds.

The Taft people said their fear of a convention split by Harold Stassen was eased by the victory of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in last week's Oregon primary.

But what they gained there, they lost in new worry about the New York governor's regained strength.
